- E. SESSION SUMMARY: Summary of Information

The target is in an isolated region. There is a group of objects concentrated together in the background. This is reminiscent of a complex of structures. There are several topographic levels or changes apparent. There are large expanses of fairly level terrain indicative of tundra or prairie. The target area has a "northern" feeling about it. There are scents of plant life, a "fresh" coolness and a high pitched drone reminiscent of buzzing insects.

There are a series of long rectangular objects which lie side-by-side in a linear arrangement. They appear to cross over something and are reminiscent of wooden beams. The term frontier is associated with this site. There is a series of similarly shaped objects throughout the picture. They have a rhythmic aspect to them and some appear to change either shape or position.
